What does it mean to say that we live in a secular age? This apparently simple question opens into the massive provocative and complex a secular age where Charles Taylor positions secularism as a defining feature of the modern world not the mere absence of religion and casts light on the experience of transcendence that scientific explanations of the world tend to neglect. In varieties of secularism in a secular age a prominent and varied group of scholars chart the conversations in which a secular age intervenes and address wider questions of secularism and secularity. The distinguished contributors include Robert Bellah, Jos Casanova, Nil Fer G le, William E. Connolly, Wendy Brown, Simon During, Colin Jagger, Jon Butler, Jonathan Sheehan, Akeel Bilgrami, John Milbank, and Saba Mahmood. Varieties of secularism in a secular age succeeds in conveying to readers the complexity of secularism while serving as an invaluable guide to a landmark book.

churches often realize they need to change but if they're not careful the way they change can hurt more than help in this culmination of his well received ministry in a secular age trilogy leading practical theologian andrew root offers a new paradigm for understanding the congregation in contemporary ministry he articulates why congregations feel pressured by the speed of change in modern life and encourages an approach that doesn't fall into the negative traps of our secular age living in late modernity means our lives are constantly accelerated and calls for change in the church often support this call to speed up root asserts that the recent push toward innovation in churches has led to an acceleration of congregational life that strips the sacred out of time many congregations are simply unable to keep up which leads to burnout and depression when things move too fast we feel alienated from life and the voice of a living god the congregation in a secular age calls congregations to reimagine what change is and how to live into this future helping them move from relevance to resonance
